Dear Friends,

As we step into a brand-new year, I want to take a moment to say how excited we are for what lies ahead. There's something special about the start of a new year – new plans, new places, and new memories waiting to be made. We are truly looking forward to traveling together again and sharing more unforgettable experiences with you in the months ahead.

This year's lineup includes some incredible highlight trips we're especially excited about, including journeys to Ireland and Italy – two destinations rich in history, culture, and unforgettable scenery. In addition, we're honored to offer one very special event this year, A Nation Remembers, taking place in September.

This meaningful experience is designed to celebrate faith, family, and freedom, while paying tribute to the men and women who have served our country. Co-hosted by Patriots Landing and in partnership with The Ark Encounter, this event promises to be deeply moving, reflective, and inspiring. It is an opportunity to come together in gratitude and remembrance, and we truly hope you'll consider traveling with us for this powerful experience.

Thank you for being part of our travel family. We can't wait to share another incredible year of journeys, connection, and purpose with you.

Warm regards,

Ryan Sanders
